Five StarsBy DGI had no idea Haeger had produced such a wide array of pottery. Learn something new everyday.

Organized in 1871, in Dudee, Illinois, the Haeger pottery grew from making building bricks to decorative housewares by 1914. Today it continues to produce many lines of decorative ceramic wares. This book presents the company history, over 200 catalog pages, and over 700 select items fully described with their color names, dimensions, markings, price guide and index. With this, an interested reader can learn to identify and evaluate Haeger pottery on the market today.

Celebrating clayware and art pottery design since 1914, Haeger Pottery has offered many desirable pieces to decorators and collectors for decades. This volume depicts the finest of those wares, from designers as varied as Royal Hickman, Sasch Brastoff, and Martin Stangl. Hundreds of planters, vases, cookie jars, pitchers, lamps, and more (many of which are figural) are paraded throughout these pages. 1997 VALUES -- Book Description
