Hollywood Creative Directory Staff : Hollywood Representation Directory before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Hollywood Representation Directory:

At this point I would recommend an online subscription over a print edition. The information changes rapidly and readers will likely get more value out of a more frequently updated resource. Double check all information prior to submitting or contacting to confirm the name/title of the individual you wish to contact (and also to be certain they are still with that company--players change positions and companies more frequently than you might assume). Be professional. Only contact individuals in the fashion that they stipulate is acceptable (whether snail or electronic mail or by telephone). Happy reading~*0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Out of Date By Jack Quinn A current issue of this directory of agents would be great, but this

2007 edition is eight years old! Unconscionable for an industry in which firms come and go with great regularity, and people move at the drop of a dime. The directory could also be better cross-referenced, with more differentiation among verticle representation categories. Best feature: it has fairly comprehensive data on each entry listed.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Three StarsBy Robert M. Hendersonnot too helpful yet

Need an agent, a manager, a lawyer, a publicist? Theyre here! * Comprehensive guide to more than 2,000 companies and 7,000 individuals * Talent and literary agents, managers, entertainment attorneys, publicity companies--all with complete contact information The most complete, reliable, and comprehensive reference book on Hollywood representation is back in its 32nd edition, newly expanded to include separate sections on entertainment lawyers and publicity companies. No other publication gives access to the film and television community of Hollywood and New York like this indispensable directory, packed with more than 2,000 company listings and 7,000 individuals, all presented with complete contact information. This companion to the Hollywood Creative Directory is one-stop shopping for representation and getting work in movies and on television.
