

(Mobile book) Hopeful to Hired: How to Score the Job You Want Straight Out of College

Hopeful to Hired: How to Score the Job You Want Straight Out of College

Adam Dince

ePub | *DOC | audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF

 Download

 Read Online

#2323717 in Books Adam Dince 2016-11-14Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 7.10 x .90 x 5.20l, #File Name: 1945769211200 pagesHopeful to Hired How to Score the Job You Want Straight Out of College | File size: 48.Mb

Adam Dince : Hopeful to Hired: How to Score the Job You Want Straight Out of College before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Hopeful to Hired: How to Score the Job You Want Straight Out of College:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I highly recommend this for soon to be or recent college graduates ...By @KP_KellyPhenomenal book. I highly recommend this for soon to be or recent college graduates or anyone in the job search market looking for inspiration as well as some guidance.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Packed full of helpful informationBy JenShinnGreat book! Packed full of helpful information. Should be a required read for everyone looking for a job. Not just people in college. Adam provides real life examples that you can relate to.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Excellent Book!By Bill TuliThis is a very useful book. Perfect for the times. I highly recommend it.

In today's job market, only a quarter of college graduates have jobs that are related to their major. Add to that massive amounts of student debt and economic uncertainty, and graduation can feel more like a time of panic than of hope. In the face of this adversity, how can students prepare themselves for career success while still in college? The secret lies in using college years as an opportunity to build professional networks, improve soft-skills, and create an effective online personal brand, so that students can hit the ground running after graduation. In Hopeful to Hired, Adam Dince covers everything undergraduate and graduate students need to know now so that they are ready to find their dream job when they begin entering the workforce. This book proves indispensable not only for college students but for anyone preparing to enter the job hunt from the military, high school, or even another job. This empowering book will take the dread out of graduation and help lead you seamlessly into your dream job.

This book covers all the bases of finding that post-college dream job and getting off to a great start in your new career. --Michelle Wieser, MBA, Ph.D., MBA Director and Associate Professor, St. Catherine UniversityThose looking for their first or next job need solid advice from a career mentor with contemporary, been-there-done-that experience. In Hopeful to Hired, Adam Dince has not only provided that much needed counsel, he has created a comprehensive playbook for today's job seeker. --Mark S. Babbitt, CEO and Founder of YouTern*Hopeful to Hired* belongs in the back-pack and cargo-pocket of every high school senior, college student, and transitioning military veteran, or anyone how has yet to find the meaningful career they seek. If you are ready to transition from where you are to where you want to be, Hopeful to Hired is for you. --Raphael Hernandez, Lieutenant Colonel (retired), Former Chief Marketing Officer, United States Marine CorpsFrom the Author"Over the years, I've helped many students successfully transition from college to career. I know what college students must do now, to land the job they want in today's competitive job market. And it's all included in my book, Hopeful to Hired." - Adam Dince, AuthorAbout the AuthorAdam Dince is an author and digital marketing professional. In addition, he is a college instructor and guest lecturer at various universities. For the past four years, Adam has been a featured speaker at AdFed's annual Student Ad Summit (SAS) and a variety of other collegiate and industry events. Each year, Adam mentors college students in his community as a way to give back to others. Adam is currently the Director of Digital Marketing at Arrowhead Holdings, Inc. Adam received his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (Information Systems) from San Diego State University and his MBA from St. Catherine University in St. Paul, Minnesota. Adam resides in Stillwater, Minnesota with his wife, Tina and two dogs, Scrappy and Pappy.